February 2014

The EAN project celebrated this Safer Internet Day

The EAN project celebrated this Safer Internet Day and spread the message that bullying has no place on the Internet.

The theme for this year's Safer Internet Day was "Let's create a better internet together" in recognition that young people, parents, teachers, policymakers and stakeholders all have an important role to play.

The EAN project joins "The Big March Park 2014"

The EAN project is pleased to join "The Big March Park 2014" organized by Beatbullying.

The Big March 2014 is a European virtual march sharing a common goal with the EAN and calling on the European Commission to institutionalise a European Day against bullying every year.

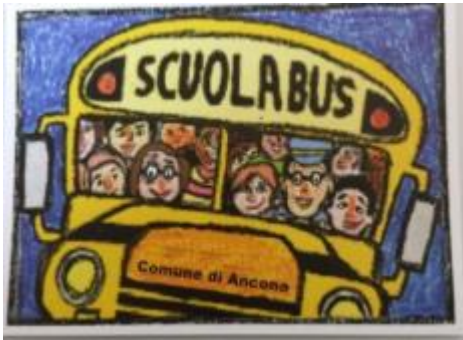

We would like to take this opportunity to thank Beatbullying for hosting us in "The Big March". We at EAN are so grateful to unite efforts with organizations and people which are taking a strong stand against bullying.

An initiative against bullying in the school-buses at its start!

The Municipality of Ancona and COOSS Marche are working together in an initiative to fight bullying in the school-buses, places where a lot of children are alone, without the control of any adults.

The initiative aims to help children to transform their aggressive behaviors in positive potential, with the aim, after proper training, to entrust the safety of the school-buses attendants to themselves.
