

ALdia

Accessible Learning design, implementation and accreditation

aldia-project.eu

Objectives:

- * To define disabled student needs in both higher education and VET sectors
- * To promote diversity within the educational environment and create social bonds between persons with and without disabilities
- * To develop and field-test an innovative, flexible, Massive Open Online Course for higher education lecturers and VET trainers
- * To validate the acquired expertise through certification that will be based on the ECVET principles, thus facilitating its use across Europe
- * To generate genuine and sustainable improvements in the education and training system and policies

Activities:

- * Developing collaborative teaching and learning pedagogies. These will be used in two respects:
 - a) the ALdia training methodology and practice will be using all the collaborative learning techniques available for distance learning
 - b) the accessible learning design that will be taught by the ALdia training will incorporate, where appropriate, collaborative teaching techniques
- * Creating synergies and encourage cooperation between education providers at all levels, in order to have a multiplier effect in Europe and beyond
- * Providing evidence for policy-making that supports the development of learning environments that foster equity and inclusion
