

WBLQUAL

An Approach to Qualifications through Negotiated Work Based Learning for the EU

www.wblqual.com

Objectives:

The aim of WBLQUAL is to produce a more effective way of improving professional skills and behaviours of work based employees, through the use of academic work-based learning (WBL) programmes refining a method of providing qualifications for work based activity that will also produce benefits for employers in performance, behaviour and attitude of learners

Activities:

- * Research on Academia - Strategic, Tactical and Operational Considerations for Academia Involvement Into Work-based learning
- * Recommendations for the three target groups to implement innovative educational programmes, such as WBL

*Follow the project IN ACTION / Watch the VIDEOS

Results:

- * Comparative Report – University culture and academic issues
- * Comparative Report – Learners’ view on work based learning
- * Comparative Report Employers’ View On Work Based Learning
- * The aspirations and achievements of WBLQUAL
- * WBL for enhancing employee skills – Lessons from the literature and practice in a UK HEI
- * Work based higher learning \(WBL\) for the Danish tourism sector
- * Value added performance and its recognition in the workplace
- * Strategic, tactical and operational considerations for academia involvement into work-based learning
- * Employers’ view on work based learning

Partners:

- * Coordinator: Staffordshire University (United Kingdom)
- * Rigas Techniska Universitate (Latvia)
- * Uniwersytet Lodzki (Poland)
- * University of South Denmark (Denmark)

Date of project: 01/10/2010 – 30/11/2012

DG of reference: DG EAC, Education and Training, Lifelong Learning Programme – Erasmus Multilateral

Contact:

CESIE: luisa.ardizzone@cesie.org